THE OVERVIEW OF INTERGENERATIONAL SOCIAL ENGAGEMENT STAFF AT ALZHEIMER'S FOUNDATION INDONESIA

Not many individuals are interested in becoming a community facilitator. Therefore, it is also not easy for companies or foundations to find a community facilitator. In an effort to produce quality community facilitators, Pembangunan Jaya University implements a professional work program as a first step for students to be able to get an overview of jobs that match the profile of study program graduates. Professional work is also useful in developing the knowledge that students have learned during their lectures. Practitioners are individuals who carry out professional work programs at the Alzheimer's Indonesia Foundation as Intergenerational Social Engagement staff. Practitioners are tasked with being a facilitator in every activity and program carried out by the Alzheimer's Indonesia Foundation. In the implementation of KP, practitioners experienced several obstacles related to adaptation which were later resolved properly.
