SOCIAL MEDIA CONTENT VIDEO DESIGN AT CFACTORY

Internships are a learning method that provides students with the opportunity to gain work experience in a specific company environment. Students can enhance their skills with guidance from experienced workers. The intern underwent an internship at CFactory for two months and six days. The intern works under the supervision of the project manager and receives guidance. The intern was assigned to the Design division as a graphic designer and also to the Production division as a video editor. While carrying out their professional duties, the intern created graphic designs, edited videos, and prepared several events. The intern gained learning experience in video editing and teamwork.
