The case involving Rizieq Shihab has received special attention from the public, this is inseparable from the controversy carried out by Rizieq Shihab. This of course invites a lot of responses from the wider community. This study aims to analyze how Kompas.com and Republika.co.id media frame news related to Rizieq Shihab. This research approach uses a qualitative descriptive approach. The researcher uses the theory of framing analysis proposed by Zhondang Pan and Gerald M. Kosicki. This can be seen from how researchers analyze news framing through framing analysis using the Zhondang Pan and Gerald M. Kosicki method to see how Kompas.com and Republika.co.id media packaged the case. Based on the results of the study by taking 18 news stories, the researcher saw that there was a difference between the media Kompas.com and Republika.co.id in framing the Rizieq Shihab case. This difference can be seen from the title, resource persons, and photos displayed by Kompas.com and Republika.co.id Media. Kompas.com in its reporting on Rizieq Shihab is fairly neutral. Meanwhile, Republika.co.id emphasizes more positive things about Rizieq Shihab.
