Since this corona virus came and changed people's lifestyles, this corona virus had an impact, one of which had an impact on children. The important role of the family, especially mothers, plays a very important role in preventing Covid 19. Before explaining Covid 19 to children, mothers must understand what Covid 19 is, what the symptoms are, how it is transmitted, and prevention of Covid 19. Therefore, Mother is looking for information about Covid 19 from trusted sources, such as news on television, print media, online media, and social media. Corona virus cases in Pamulang District, South Tangerang City have the highest number of Covid 19 cases. This research method uses a case study, namely mothers who carry out socialization during the Covid 19 pandemic to children in the Pamulang area. Based on direct findings in the field that in several housing estates in the Pamulang area, many mothers have children. And use constructivism paradigm. The results of the study using a qualitative method stated that mothers provided socialization of Covid 19 prevention to their children, namely by means of authoritative socialization. For the understanding of children aged 10 years and children aged under five are very different, children aged under five tend to imitate what mothers teach and apply, while children aged 10 years mothers teach more independently to participate in pandemic prevention. The purpose of socialization is carried out by mothers so that children understand and get used to doing new habits during a pandemic. And mothers have ways to prevent children from being stressed or bored during a pandemic, namely by doing positive activities at home such as farming, cooking, baking, watching children's favorite movies, playing games that educate children.
