Oral and dental health is very important, but there are still many parents who often ignore oral and dental health in children because of a lack of good understanding that dental health is a major factor in health in the body. According to the 2018 Basic Health Research, 93% of children have cavities. Cavities are often found in children because they are really like sweet foods such a candy andchocolate, but after consuming sweet foods, they don't rinse their mouth with wateror brush their teeth, so that remaining sweet food will stick to the teeth and will cause a buildup in the mouth so that bacteria can nest and will erode tooth enamel.This comic is made for the parents and children can understand that dental healthis important from an early age.
