The practitioner occupies a planning and development unit that handles several projects in the Bintaro Jaya, Serpong, Pasar Kemis Tangerang and several other locations. Practitioners are involved in several projects as sport club concept planners, commercial land and several residential facade designs. There are many considerations and differences in the planning process for the three different project functions. However, this adds to the practitioner's insight into the stages of the process in planning the building of supporting facilities, both planning the facade for the suitability of the function of the building and the stages in the process of planning an area for land use.
