BUILDING AND INTERIOR RENOVATION DESIGN WITH LIMITED AREA

Internship work has made the intern gain new experience in the profession, especially in the field of Architecture that the intern is engaged in. On this professional job opportunity, the intern participates to work at IFD Architects which is an agency engaged in architectural design consulting where the intern is directly involved in designing the backyard renovation of Trias Bintaro's residence and interior design at the Marketing Galleri Promenade 57. Similarities of the two projects This is a limited amount of space. The limited area of a space makes the design made in such a way to meet the needs of the client, therefore some parts of the design are made modular and multifunctional to maximize space. In the Trias Bintaro residential renovation project, the intern designed the backyard which was converted into a soccer playing area along with the addition of other supporting elements in the backyard. As for the Promenade 57 marketing gallery interior design project, the intern is asked to complete the interior design of the space prepared for the marketing gallery. As for the daily tasks carried out by the Intern to complete the two projects, such as collecting data, looking for ideas, making 3d, and making presentations.
