

ABSTRACT

Ratna Aura Kusumadewi (2015101012)

THE LOCALITY IN PT FUSIONARC ARCHITECTS PROJECT

During implement professional work in PT Fusionarc Architects, intern placed at architect division in accordance with background sectors that intern learned. Upon the work professional, intern have a chance directly to study the environment and the world of work on consultants architect directly. In addition intern get the experience do duties at fields work of architecture significantly. During the conduct of duty, there was always a process of the revision and its give more experience as well as making intern realize that everyone do mistakes, that it push intern to focus heavily and conscientious on any part of detail work. Through professional work, intern get various new science in the fields of architecture, starting from design technically and non technical, know the types of images consisting of a figure of the concepts to permit its building, a picture work design engineer development (DED), Activity in the sphere of work architecture and how design a concept who combined value localized in modern buildings. In one of a project, intern learning and get more experience and interesting things which are how to deal with the problem involving development design concept where desire owner and regulations permit its building not relationship, and the two do is important element that cannot be left. This raised conflict between modernity and vernacular who contrary to the in facade design and must be integrated by taking the middle point of them.

Keywords: concept, architecture, modernity, identity, vernacular, professional work, locality, modern buildings