The V Modeling is a Muslimah modeling school based in 3 locations, namely, Bekasi, Tangerang and Depok. The lack of information regarding The V Modeling agencies and models is a benchmark for The V Modeling's shortcomings in providing detailed information. The V Modeling only provides information on modeling class activities which are documented through the agency's Instagram, the lack of a forum for alumni participating in The V Modeling to look for job opportunities or cooperation between recruiters is still minimal, and there is no system that makes it easier for recruiters to see or looking for a suitable model at The V Modeling is quite limited. Therefore, it is necessary to have a mobile application user interface as a bridge or container that makes it easier for The V Modeling participants & recruiters to find the information they need. The designed application also displays information for prospective participants to join The V Modeling agency, a catalog of model participants, and other detailed information.
