HOUSE RENOVATION PLANNING AND BEDROOM INTERIOR DESIGN AT STUDIOGIRI (PT. PRAKARSITA)

Studiogiri (PT. Prakarsita) is an architecture and interior design studio that focuses on commercial and residential projects which was founded in 2010. In the residential renovation planning carried out by Studiogiri there was a request to use the science of feng shui when creating the layout of the residential renovation plan. However, at Studiogiri itself, no one has mastered the science of feng shui, so when clients want to use this knowledge they are expected to bring in a feng shui expert because feng shui has its own calculations. Apart from using the science of feng shui, practitioners work on shop drawing plans which will become a reference for building construction. In working on shop drawings, practice translating 3D buildings from SketchUp into plans in AutoCAD, apart from that, practice working on floor pattern plans, key plans, and stair cut plans. The intern also designs interiors for children's room projects. In working on this design, practitioners gain additional knowledge about interior design planning. Practitioners gain a lot of new knowledge in the world of architectural and interior design work and know the realities and expectations in working on a project.
